ICYMI: Donalds Joins Sunday Morning Futures

WASHINGTON – This morning, Congressman Byron Donalds (R-FL) joined Sunday Morning Futures on Fox News Channel alongside Congresswoman Anna Paulina Luna (R-FL) to discuss the Obama administration's weaponization of the intelligence community against President Trump and the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee's investigation into former President Biden's cognitive decline and his administration's autopen usage.

Watch the full interview here or below:

"They all need to come in, they all need to answer questions":

"According to many accounts, Mr. Bernal was the one who was making sure stuff got done in that White House with several others. I think you have to subpoena every official of the Biden White House - including the First Lady [Jill Biden], and including the Vice President Kamala Harris. They all need to come in, they all need to answer questions."

"They [Democrats] should never be allowed to have power again in the United States":

"Well they got away with it because once they leaked these false narratives and false reports, you had big media organizations who just went lock, stock, and barrel - did not fact check, did not go and do the extra work, did not do any due diligence whatsoever. They just followed and towed the company line... Donald Trump's movement has always been about putting the American people first, putting Washington last. That is something that the Democrats abhor so they went to any means necessary to try to stop his momentum and stop his movement, but we found out, once again, that they lied to the American people. They [Democrats] have betrayed the trust of the American people and they should never be allowed to have power again in the United States."
