ICYMI: Donalds Joins The Sean Hannity Show

WASHINGTON – Congressman Byron Donalds (R-FL) joined The Sean Hannity Show on iHeart Radio to discuss the Obama administration's weaponization of the intelligence community against President Trump and the liberal media's compliance in undermining President Trump's first term.

"It's the radical Democrat power structure that is the threat to democracy":

"I do think they need to be held accountable. The question now is going to be what is the criminal standard that you're going to hold them to? I think now I'm really happy that the President revoked all their security clearances because it's proven now that they never deserved them in the first place, so I'm glad their security clearances are revoked. But they are the threat to our Constitutional Republic, Sean. They're the threat to democracy, and as much as they were trying to project onto Donald Trump and onto Maga and onto Republicans, no, it's the radical Democrat power structure that is the threat to democracy. So, yeah, a lot of people need to be held accountable, and I think that the top of that list, if you were going to ask me today, is probably going to be John Brennan and James Clapper. They're going to be one and two, and then it really falls in line after that. And the reason why I say that is because they're the ones that actually had to go carry out the work in the bowels of the intelligence agencies in order to weaponize the federal government against an American President."
