ICYMI: Donalds Joins Ed Henry The Big Take

WASHINGTON – Congressman Byron Donalds (R-FL) joined Ed Henry The Big Take on Newsmax to discuss ongoing military involvement in Iran and the Trump administration's commitment to keeping the Strait of Hormuz open.

Watch the full interview here or below:

"You have these NATO countries who, quite frankly, they have far more interest in making sure the Strait of Hormuz is open, but they won't lift a finger to do anything":

"The President and his team are working feverishly to try to get that cleared up to make sure there's security to move through that strait, [a] very narrow strait. And this is, I think, where the frustration from the White House is valid. You have these NATO countries who, quite frankly, they have far more interest in making sure the Strait of Hormuz is open, but they won't lift a finger to do anything because they are more concerned about the freaks in the press who are always wrong and about offending an Iranian regime that does not care about them, that will foment terror around on them and their nations and their people. So, they need to step up, quite frankly, live in the real world and do what's right on behalf of their citizens."
