ICYMI: Donalds Joins Kudlow

WASHINGTON – This afternoon, Congressman Byron Donalds (R-FL) joined Kudlow on Fox Business Network to discuss the idea of government taking a stake in Intel Corporation, the downsizing of the federal workforce, and the tax cut benefits of the One Big Beautiful Bill.

"One of the best recipes for success for an economy is when people keep more money and they don't give it to the government":

"The CHIPS Act, terrible piece of legislation. Yeah, you dumped billions of dollars into these companies to do development here when we could have done much more reasonable things like major regulatory reform changes, actually doubling the amount of base load power on the electric grid by bringing nuclear and more stable pieces of energy to the grid which we need to do, long overdue. I think look, with this whole deal where we are right now, we've sunk lot of money into these companies. We're not getting it back so that's a major problem of its own because it does create a moral hazard. Because what'll happen is, you'll get some of these CEO's who will say let's just wait for the next Democrat administration to get more bags of cash out of the American taxpayer - that's not a good situation at all. We really need to stop doing this and focus on the regulation in D.C., making sure the American economy is powered, no pun intended and ready to go so you don't have to do this lunacy like the CHIPS Act. I don't know about this. I'm with Steve on this one. I'm not really feeling this whole conversion of grants to warrants or whatever is going on over there... One of the best recipes for success for an economy is when people keep more money and they don't give it to the government. President Trump promises made, promises kept. Let's keep going down that line and build a better economy for everyone."
