ICYMI: Donalds Joins The Balance With Eric Bolling

WASHINGTON – Last night, Congressman Byron Donalds (R-FL) joined The Balance With Eric Bolling on Newsmax to discuss the weaponization of America's legal system against President Donald Trump, and the radicalism of Maine Secretary of State Shenna Bellows.

Watch the full interview here.

They only care about their agenda and winning elections:

"Well, my message overall is you're going to lose anyway, but when you do stupid stuff like this, what you're really doing is you're turning off independent voters and even some of those soft Democrats, those Conservative Democrats..You start turning people off, because what you're saying is, is that you would rather just disenfranchise a segment of the country. You would rather just remove political opposition as opposed to actually having the political process take its natural course. So, I think this is going to backfire, it's already backfired, and it's only going to get worse. But, this is really proof of the radicalism that is in the Democrat party. I mean, we're not talking about political disagreements or you know, somebody who is very liberal, or somebody who is very conservative. These are radicals, people who don't care about the rule of law, they don't care about our institutions, they only care about their agenda and winning elections by any means necessary. That is the rot in our country and we got to get rid of it."

She doesn't give a damn about the country:

"She worked at the Southern Poverty Law Center and the ACLU, need I say more. This lady is one of the liberal radicals that I've been talking about. She's the type of radical liberal that is upset with me being a black man being a Republican, and she is like offended by that. By my very political existence probably. Look, I have no response for her because she makes no sense at all. All she wants to do is win for her side. She doesn't give a damn about the country."
